Yesterday's Games.

To-Day's Schedule.

American League, Cleveland at Chicago, Milwaukee at Detroit, Boston at Washingto Philad'a at Baltimo REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Boston, Mass., June 26.-Wallace and Heidrick were most concerned in the Bosdrove in all three runs for the visitors, while he latter, by a wonderful catch in deep centerfield, cut off a possible run and, by a beautiful throw by which Hamilton's effort to make a three-bagger was transformed into an out, robbed the Bostons of another

Lowe and Kittridge will be hauled over the coals for their display of stupid playing, by which Donovan's foul fly was tost. It should have been gobbled up by either man and with ease. As it was Donovan was allowed another opportunity to show his hitting powers and took advantage of the chances offered by making a single. Nich-hitting powers and took advantage of the chances offered by making a single. Nichols and Powell were the opposing litchers. Nichols Pitched a Great Game. Nichols was in grand form, and, outside of the second and eighth innings, had Donovan's crew under his thumb. Only a half dozen hits were made off his delivery, while seven strike-outs are recorded in his favor. Powell was on the rubber for the visitors and scattered five hits through as many innings, one hit to each inning.

In the last inning Boston might have greated a tie but for the grand support given by St. Louis to their pitcher.

In all the game only one error is charged, and that to Heidrick, who fumbled a hit. Heidricks catch off Kittridge's hat was one of the most remarkable ever seen on the grounds. It looked like an easy three-bagger and was in deep center. Heidrick ran and ran, and just got there, but as he was descending the little slope which is in the Boston outfield almost lost his balance and floundered. He recovered his equilibrium three or four feet from the fence and, to show that he had made the catch and held the ball, tossed it against the stockade. He was applauded and obliged to raise his cap several times.

and the other a rattling three-bagger, both being timely.

Two of the three St. Louis runs were scored in the second inning after Donovan's fly had been lost. Patsy singled and got to second on a passed ball. Padden filed out to Dineen. Wallace rapped the ball over the left field fence for a homer, sending in Donovan.

Then Nichols struck out both Ryan and Powell.

Powell.
Long's homer in the fourth gave the Bostons their first run. In the eighth the Cardinals made another. Padden got a single and was sent home by Wallace's three-bagger. In the ninth Boston made a game stand, but scored only one run.

week. He received an offer to do that from the Ogden organization and at once intimated that he was through with us. He is a peculiar chap. He deserted the club in 1899, just as we were about to begin a long Eastern trip, and went home, where he remained until the apring of 1900. Jones will be hard to replace, when the club is having such a coise contest for the choice having such a close contest for the choice had the ambition of Sudhoff or Harper we would be giving Pittsburg quite an argument now.

The Donovanites played another one of their cracking games yesterday by winning on six hits while Boston secured eight and played an errorless game.

Bobby Wallace was the only member of the tribe to secure more than one safety, and his two were rippers. One went for the circuit and the other for three bags.

Burkett had a busy day in the short out-field at Boston with aix put outs yester-day, but Jesse could not connect with the puzzlers of Charley Nichols. Frank Gening, who began the season with the Cleveland American League team, is now astisfied with a berth at Omaha in the Western League.

Jack Crooks is now captain and first base-man of the Minneapolis team of the West-ern League. Jack never could agree with Perry Werden, and when both found them-selves on the same team at St. Paul they renewed a fight of ten years' standing.

Selbach's record of six hits in seven times at bat is counted as good as Donlin's feat of rapping out six anfettes in six times at the plate, because Selbach had the foul strike rule to contend with. The Call-fornian's record is almost perfect and noth-ing but perfection can beat it.

As usual, when Powell is pitching. Dan McGann had little to do at the initial corner. Dan had but six put outs to his credit yesterday, and he seldom runs over eight with Powell on the slab.

Pitcher Mills of the New York State League has been purchased by Brooklyn. Mills won thirteen straight games this year for Schenectady.

Billy Shettsiine seems to be anxious to rid the Quakers of Jimmy Slagic, the diminutive left fielder. Boston offered to take him, but nothing has been heard from Seles since the Beancaters began to climb the ladder. Cincinnati may relieve Philadelphia of the clever little outfielder, who has been unable to strike his gait at the bat.

It is rumored that with a little induce-ment Philadelphia would part with Roy Thomas, whose hitting and fielding has not been up to the mark of late. If Thomas is sold Slagie will be retained for center field. Nineteen out of the twenty-four regular outfielders in the National League bat left-handed.

John B. Foster has the following to say of Pittsburg and St. Louis in the New York Telegraph:

"Both on the Pittsburg and St. Louis teams there is altogether too much purpose manifest to gain a base at the expense of injury to an opposing player if it be necessary.

manifest to gain a base at the expense of injury to an opposing player if it be necessary.

"Half the men on both teams go into the bases feet foremost, and not with a commendable effort to slide, but with a jump that means a determination to cut some-body down if it is necessary. New York plays with other teams of the League, and there is little of that sort of thing in evidence. It is quite as easy to slide to a base in a decent manner as it is to jump at the bag, meaning, if possible, to put the spikes where they will bring blood."

No one who has seen Fred Clarke of Pittsburg play this year will believe for a moment that he has not in mind the deliberate spiking of the player in his way. He simply lunges fierosly with his feet at the legs of the other man, and only one result could follow if the spikes came into contact with fiesh.

As a rule the standard of play has been better in the National League this season than it has been for a number of years, and it is a pity that the St. Louis and Pittsburg teams will not dispense with these half savage methods, which gain sympathy from no one but the cheapest of humanity.

Any Gothamite who could have seen the big and bony Gazel knock little Arthur Nichols down and roll all over him, would never speak of any players who are half "half savage." There are too many full bloods on the New York team.

Shortly afterwards Justice Greensfelder fell in line with the shirt-walst idea. ALLOWED THEM TO DOFF COATS Judge Pollard Surprised Spectators at Police Court.

Justice Jeff Poliard, who has been Acting Police Judge of the First District Police Court for about ten days, yesterday held court in his shirt waist, and extended the privilege to all present in the courtroom.

The Marshal stared in wonderment a second, then smiled and obeyed.

Everybody laughed, and in a moment everybody was in shirt waists.

Then the Judge removed his coat, frowned in courtly dignity at the tittering audience and the first case was called.

QUAKERS ARE VERY POPULAR. Hope That Americane Will Win Grand Challenge Often Beard at Henley. SPECIAL BY CABLE.

SPECIAL BY CABLE.

Henley, June 25.—Four of the six crews entered for the Grand Challenge Cup are now in practice. Three of them did the fuil course trial to-day. To-night all in Henley are discussing the relative time in which each did the distance.

Apropos of Henley gussip, I think it only fair to mention the remarkable popularity of the Philadelphia crew, which is all the more noteworthy as Henley has scarcely seen the boys except on the water. Yet at every stop one hears the same sentiment expressed, the hope that the Americans will win.

seen the boys except on the water. Yet at every stop one hears the same sentiment expressed, the hope that the Americans will win.

Curiously enough, Henley has scarcely seen the Philadelphia boys except, as said, in actual practice on the river. From their quarters up the hill the boys ride in a wagonette to their boathouse in the morning. In the afternoon, from the boathouse up to the island, where the starting point is, they usually paddle the full course length. There, amid the shade of the most delightful Oxford scenery, Coach Ward puts them through their paces, usually winding up with a stiff row down the full length of the course. After that the bath and rub-down, then back again to the Five Horseshoe inn, at the top of tho hill.

That is all Henley sees of the visitors, it may be this very reserve which appeals to English sentiment, and which accounts for the crew's remarkable popularity. But certain it is that no crew from America has been greeted with such effusive good will as the Phillies of 1801.

Leander's Trial Row the Beast.

Returning to the day's trials, if figures go for anything, the honors of the day certainly rest with the Leander crew. In their afternoon spin, taken after 6 o'clock, when the sun's rays had become less powerful, they made the course in seven minutes and two seconds, which is one and one-fifth seconds better than Philladelphia did the other day.

The Quaker City boys made a trial spin in the forenoon, doing the half distance in three minutes and twenty-four seconds. But there was no comparison in the condition of the crews as they reached home. Ward's hey's were fresh as dialsies. At no stage of the course did they put forth all they could. The new college team did the first full course to-day, making the half in three minutes and twenty-nine seconds and the full distance in seven minutes and twenty seconds. For some time there was a variety of opinion as to the full time, rumor having it that six minutes fifty-eight seconds was the correct time. This, however, proved to be

CORNELL CREW WILL ROW. In Settled. REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 28.—An official statement was made here to-night that the Cornell crews will row in the regatta Tuesday, and it is believed that John M. Francis will not represent the university in the single sculls.

The members of the Athletic Council, Messra, C. H. Blood, W. T. Durrand and E. R. Alexander, held a long conference with the oarsmen this evening. The men persisted in their refusal to row if Francis were permitted to represent the university. Edward Hanlan, Columbia's rowing coach, has stirredup considerable ill feeling samony the Cornell oarsmen because of a statement he has made in regard to the Francis controversy.

"Courtney," said Hanlan, "is going back to his childhood tactics. In case he finds that his 'varsity crew cannot win he is going to use the pretext of Francis rowing in order to withdraw his crew gracefully."

The temperature on the river touched 197 this morning, and in consequence rowing was difficult. Columbia is three crews practiced for awhile, the eights trying starts and rowing three miles. The boiling sun soon drove them in. Pennsylvania's crews went over the course slowly. Columbia's "arasity took its first trial against time this evening, and, though handleapped by heat and the absence of E. H. Updyke, covered the course in 19:28. Some of the men were in bad shape at the finish, but soon revived.

LOSS IN THE FLOOD AT MARRIAGE ALTAR. ABOUT ONE HUNDRED.

Philosophical Justices and Clayton Details of Destruction of Life and Property in West Virginia Support Early Estimates.

> Williamson, W. Va., June S.-There is no longer any doubt but that the list of dead the result of the recent flood will exceed one hundred. Parties reached here this evening from the upper end of the flooded district, bringing the first authentic infor mation received from the scene of disaster. The party just arrived consisted of Judge E. S. Doollttle of Huntington, Judge Flour

E. S. Doolittle of Huntington, Judge Flourney of Charleston and Ellas Hatfield, Deputy Sheriff of Mingo County.

These gentlemen left Vivian Sanday morning, Judge Doolittle said to the Associated Press correspondent to-night that words could not describe the scene of devastation between Vivian and Davy.

It was a tidal wave from a cloudburst and swept everything before it. In the track of its course everything is gone, including coke ovens and pillars of atone.

At Vivian the water came roaring down the mountain sides in monster waves, and people who attempted to fee to the hills for safety were washed back and carried away by the raging current of the Elkhorn.

The section visited by the flood was thickly settled, but the population consists chiefly of miners, who were at work at the time. The large majority of the dead are women and children, and thrilling stories of rescue are told.

Fifteen persons are said to have been drowned at Eckman. At Keystone the loss of life was great. Probably thirty persons perished there. Mothers and babes were swept away by the raging current.

In one instance parties fled to an island and climbed small trees, only to be swept away fifteen minutes later by the tide, which was filled with debris of every kind. On Dry Fork the loss of life is exceedingly great. Bodies are scattered all along the stream, many of which will never be identified. Seven saloons at Keystone were washed away, four lives being lost in one of them.

At Brooke, the loss of property is also severe, but only three lives are said to have been lost there. The region from Emis to Eavy, forty-three miles, is completely in ruins. Hundreds of mine mules can be seen in hears intermingled with human bodies.

A report has just reached here that fiften bodies are lodged in a drift at Hatfield Tunnel, twenty miles east of this city.

C. F. Clifford, train dispatcher, for the centrol of the telegraph lines at the latter point. He says that on his journey he saw five dead bodies at Eckman, seven at Keystone and fifteen scattered promiscuously along the shores.

It is believed that the loss of life along the little steams emptying into the Keystone has been great. These streams have not yet been explored.

Much theft is reported in the devastated districts. Even clothing is being torn from dead bodies. Most of the bodies being found along the Tug River have been washed from the Elkhorn River. The loss of property by the flood on the Elkhorn and the Tug rivers is now roughly estimated at from $5,000,000 to $8,000,000.
